N. K. Woerner Gives Public Appreciation of United Support

As Chairman of the Gala Day Central Committee, I wish to express, on behalf of the committee, sincere appreciation to all of those who have worked to make the day a success. To the stage hands, the actors, The Gateway, and all who have co-operated with us we proffer our sincere thanks.

As an individual, I desire to acknowledge with gratitude the help of my colleagues on the committee in arranging the program of the day.

It has taken the combined efforts of all interested students and faculty members to put the affair across. It is to each of these that this "thank you" is addressed.

N. K. Woerner, Chairman.

Graduates Invited To Banquet Having Mystery for Theme

The Alumni Banquet will be held at the University Club, Thursday, June 5. The graduating Seniors are invited to attend. Arrangements are under the direction of Mary Uhl Collins.

The theme of the banquet is to be kept a secret. Speakers of the evening will be members of the alumni. Officers are urging old grads who have not paid their dues as yet to do this as soon as possible.

Lillian Hill, Omaha Freshman, Awarded Sociology Scholarship of 150 Dollars

Lillian Hill, freshman at the University of Omaha, has been awarded a Sociology scholarship by the Nebraska group of the National Society of Colonial Dames.

The scholarship amounts to 150 dollars and applies on any Sociology course at the University of Omaha. The announcement of the award was made by Mrs. R. R. Hollister of Irvington, secretary of the Nebraska chapter.

Miss Hill is a graduate of North High school where she completed the four year course in two years and a half. She came to America with her family from Ireland to join two brothers here in 1923. She started her education in Omaha at Saratoga school where she was placed in the sixth grade. After skipping one grade there, she entered North High.

By taking extra hours and going to summer school, Miss Hill was able to graduate with the first complete class there.

According to Elizabeth Barnes, registrar at the University of Omaha, Miss Hill's scholastic record during her first year at the college "has been most unusual." Her average was above ninety for the fall semester and at mid-term showed signs of rising yet higher.

Miss Hill has a sister Helen, who is enrolled at North High. Her brother Thomas, graduated from the University of Omaha in 1928.

Miss Hill's ambition is to teach Social Science. "I don't really know where I care to teach. I'm terribly interested in Sociology and I'm grateful for the opportunity given me by this scholarship."

As for her speed in finishing high school, Miss Hill says:

"If I were to do it over again, I'd take a little more time and enjoy myself in high school. I don't think I'll rush through university."

Miss Hill is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Hill, 1912 Ames avenue.

News Students See "Herald" in Action With Gateway Heads

An excursion was made through the World-Herald plant, 15th and Farnam, Wednesday morning, May 14, by the Journalism class and others interested in the field, accompanied by Prof. and Mrs. H. R. Orr and Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Johnson.

The class under the guidance of Mr. Spenser was taken into the editorial room where men were at work on the morning edition. The electrical typewriters in operation were also shown.

Following this, the class was taken into the Linotype room where considerable time was spent watching the men at work on the machines.

Going into an adjoining room, the lead casts with printed matter, which go into the rollers of the press machine were shown. Finally the group was taken into the press room where the press machines were printing the morning edition.

As a souvenir, each visitor received a copy of the morning edition of the World-Herald.

FORMER INSTRUCTOR IS ON CAMPUS TODAY

Miss Frances K. Gould, former professor of English Literature at the University of Omaha, will visit on the campus today. She has been attending a conference of English Professors at the Municipal University of Wichita, Kansas. Miss Gould is now teaching at Detroit.

Says Letter Writing Literary Achievement

Mrs. Leslie F. Johnson Tells of Early Writers

ON WEEKLY RADIO HOUR

The University of Omaha WOW radio period was presented by Mrs. Leslie F. Johnson, on Wednesday, May 14. The topic of her speech was "Letters." During the talk she mentioned famous letters in literature, such as those of the Brownings, Hugh Walpole, Samuel Johnson's breach with Lord Chesterfield, and others equally well known.

All Must Write

"Letters are the most versatile form of writing. There are few of us who are not at some time in our lives either required or inclined to write."

Student Vacation Plans Are Indefinite; Harry Hoover Will Not Go Home to Homer

As this issue of The Gateway is the concluding one of the year, the reporter decided that several of the notables on the campus would not receive much publicity on being thrust into the cold, cruel world, so as a last chance to appear in the limelight these notables were asked what their plans were for the summer.

Howard Hansen has pleasant prospects for an enjoyable summer. "Heaven only knows—I don't. I'll probably be shovelling coal somewhere." Sweet dreams.

"Out here, I suppose," was the answer received from Jeanette Winters. She may mean several things. That's up to her. The reporter took the statement to mean that she was coming to summer school or else to work in the library.

After completing her part in the Gala Day dances and finishing flunking in her exams, Ada Bauman is going home to the country and—her boy friend. It really was too bad that he had to get sick. Poor boy.

The reporter guessed that Harry Hoover, being such a home boy, would go home to Homer as soon as school ended. But it seems as though he has decided to get a job in the big wicked city. He is going to work here, "doing something." He confided to the reporter that this was the first time he had been away from home. That was the way it looked by the number of letters he received at the beginning of last year. They seem to have dwindled down a bit, according to the reports received from the dormitory.

Harry Barber, that recently elected sergeant-at-arms of the Sophomore class for next year, is going into training by being either an ice man

TRADITION

One of the leading traditions on the University of Omaha campus has it that the last edition of The Gateway for the school year be made on Gala Day. The editors and staff members who have worked so hard throughout the year to make each issue a success, try to out-do everything that has been done before. It is their last issue and they wish to have one of which to be proud.

This year, Gala Day seems to have arrived in a hurry. We hate to think of leaving the campus for a long summer vacation. We hate to think of leaving the office under the patient care of a couple of mice and several bulgy, blue-bottle flies for the summer. We want to be in here turning out "dope." It makes little difference to us whether it pleases the entire mob, just so its "dope."

New editors have been elected and will take office next fall to carry on the work of issuing a paper each week that will be representative of the entire student and faculty bodies. If we are to judge from past performances, the new staff heads are more than capable of carrying on the publication under the high standards set by the present staff. All glory to the new leaders. But we know that we will miss the office just the same.

And from the unusual amount of friendliness displayed among members of the student body, we feel that the students are rather sentimental about leaving the campus—just as we are about leaving the newspaper game. In a few years, all will be left to memories.

With no annual "Omahan" this year to aid us in these memories, we believe a brief review of the files for the past school year will not be at all out of place.

The first issue under the present staff was made on October 2, 1929. The headlines proclaimed: "Mun Ownership of University Desirable." It was an old head, copied from the files a year previous. But it served the purpose. At that time the chances for establishing a municipal university in the city of Omaha were quite slim. We thought Omaha fathers were hard-shelled old moss-backs who would never in the world see the advantages of such a school on account of the financial problem involved. To aid us in this belief, we had the "individual" advice of a few high school teachers who had warned us, parrot-like: "Let students earn their way through college. Don't make it too easy for them." We were somewhat discouraged. But that memorable election day, May 6, proved several things. Omaha's thinking portion shook free from imaginary shackles and gave its youth a chance to rise. All credit to Omaha! We know that the municipal victory is the foremost accomplishment of the year.

Other issues gave account of "The Messiah," arranged by Professor N. J. Logan, of the Conservatory of Music; the annual Color Day sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A.; the debate squad victories and defeats under the tutelage of Alex McKie of the Law School; Homecoming Day, November 8 and 9, directed by Professor Irwin A. Hammer; a Christmas "surprise party," planned by President E. W. Emery; Jeanette Winters winning the Anti-Saloon league trip; "Dad" Elliott and his private talks; J. E. Davidson, trustee, chosen "first citizen"; Senior Recognition day; Alpha Gamma, literary society, chartered; "Jericho Road" started; Leah Daubenheyer appropriately chosen "Miss Gateway" and most representative girl of the university; April Fool issue in which College of Commerce politicians are satisfied; Allan T. Hupp host of municipal rally on campus; dramatic production "The Show-Off"; Muny Uni. Extra edition; and then "Joslyn, Davidson, Elected Municipal Regents."

The football scraps found place in the daily sports headlines. A. J. Dunlap and Warren Howard were possibly the most active men in that season. "Soup" Graves, an ambitious go-getter, did his best to provide a basketball season for those of the university who wanted one. Spring football was abandoned on account of finances. Self-starting baseball fans formed "The Collegians" and made baseball possible on the campus. Gala Day will close the athletic enterprises for the year.

Who's Who at the U. of O.

The last name that will be added this year to The Gateway's list of Who's Who is Dr. W. Gilbert James, Dean of the University of Omaha. Everyone who comes to the University remembers with pleasure the contact with the Dean. He has been with the University since 1919 and has done a great deal to keep it progressing.

Dean James holds many degrees and is extremely modest about them all. He received his first degree of Bachelor of Literature from Hedding College, his A. B. degree from Illinois Wesleyan, Bachelor of Oratory from Northwestern and his Master of Oratory from the same school. At Highland College he received both his Masters degree and his Ph. D.

Dr. James began his profession as a teacher of Public Speaking and Athletic Coach. Later he taught Public Speaking at Bellevue College. While he was obtaining his last two degrees, Dean James taught at Highland College and later was made President. From there he came to the University of Omaha.

His hobbies are "reading and Nature." The Dean said, "I enjoy working in my garden," and then he added "And I like to play ball."

Dr. James is enthusiastic over the new Municipal University. "The University of Omaha, under the new Municipal plan, has bright prospects. The future should bring about great developments for this Municipal University in an educational way. No prophecy can foreshadow the possibilities of such an institution—only time can tell. Judging from the history of other Municipal Universities this institution should, in a dozen or twenty years, be one of the leading schools of the country."

Just Brimful of Nonsense

CICERO, THE CYNIC, SAYS: "Marriage is the only lottery that has not been declared illegal."

Clinical Note: "That's enough out of you!" said the surgeon as he stitched the patient together again.

Boss: "I suppose you're not afraid of early hours, my boy?"

Boy: "No, sir, you can't close too early for me!"

SHORT STORY: Dr. Crabbe had almost succeeded in dismissing a talkative patient when she stopped in the doorway, exclaiming: "Why, Doctor, you didn't look to see if my tongue was coated."

"I know it isn't," said the doctor wearily. "You ever find grass on a race track?"

EDUCATIONAL: The more than usual lack of interest among the students that morning had got under the professor's skin. "Class is dismissed," he said, exasperatedly. "Please don't flap your ears as you go out."

Business Note: "You'll get a raise in salary every year, provided, of course, that your work is satisfactory."

"Ah! I thought there was a catch somewhere."

Words of Wisdom: Look out for your tongue. It's in a wet place and liable to slip.

Said in Passing: If fraternity brothers use the paddle to teach their pledges, why don't they hit them on the head?

Picture note—The crossed legs mark where the actress is found.

This hasty glimpse of what has been makes us catch our breath and wish we might live it over again. Those who are graduating feel that all is lost. Those who are returning next year, feel that all is gained.

But, as long as vacations must be taken, we hurriedly seized our red-penciled exam papers and, dropping them in a nearby waste-basket as we leave, turn an eager face toward the happy land of Minnesota, California or Oshkosh, secure in the knowledge that we are returning next fall to a booming Municipal University of Omaha, with the same old campus and the same old traditions.

The Summer School calendar is even more inviting than usual this year. Obtain a bulletin right away, and plan your course for a few more weeks of real enjoyment.

It was once said: "Whoever in the course of living seeks only for himself and his gratification shall find at the end that in doing so he has lost his own life; while whoever shall lose his own life in the service for others, shall find it again richer and fuller."

The future ahead is bright. The year 1929-30 is completed. Every person may well feel proud of the record we leave; a record showing that the year has not been lived in vain; that a pace has been set for those who follow.

THE CUBS' CORNER

This literary corner is especially intended for the publication of amateur poetry and short prose selections written exclusively by the students of the University of Omaha. The encouragement of talent along literary lines is its earnest aim. Any contributions from students will be welcomed.

Mind Set

I hate you, yes, with sneering lips,
With haughty chin, and lifted brow,
And yet I think that I could love you
If you'd only teach me how.

Nonchalance

I wave my hand and curve my lip
Whenever you pass me by.
That's just the way I cover up
How much I want to cry.

Distraction

Oh, whistling keeps up the courage, they say
So I whistle a gay little song;
But you come around, and the first thing I know,
My tunes get mixed up and are wrong.

Reflection

Whenever I see you, prim and wise,
Obeying every rule;
And note your sad and weary eyes,
I'm glad that I'm a fool.

Dissertation

I am so sorry that I was foolish.
I should like to remedy my defection.
Would you please forgive me
If I should offer to give you the moon
When I shall have obtained it?

Song for a Poor Poet on a Rainy Day

I wish that I had a gold piece today.
If I did have, I would buy all the roses on that stand.
Then, when my arms were overfilled
With their fragrance and loveliness
I should sell them again
For the price of a smile.

Mac's Mutterings

STUDENT INTEREST is to forever lag. In spite of the bold-face announcements we made last week regarding the customary method of electing students only after they had been nominated by a petition bearing twenty-five names per student, several of the gang wanted to nominate some new ones right before the election.

GREEK POLITICS is all right when it is handled properly. But when the spirit of being unfair enters, we are wont to cry: "Thumbs down." Mug this and agree: Chairman: "We will now have nominations for president." Politician: "Mr. Chairman. I nominate Mr. Under-Dog." Cohort: "Mr. Chairman. Move the nominations be closed." Politician: "Second." And so it goes.

AND TO think a bit further. You might at least thank us for the dance pulled so unceremoniously on Sneak Night. At least that is what President Huff of the Sophomore Class tells us. We paid our dollar along with four other innocents. The rest of the mob danced and laughed. Ha, ha. The joke's on us. Gefuddle fish!

MAYBE A bad policy to end the year by criticising faults. Maybe WE will want to come back in about a year and cop off the editor's easy chair again. Who knows?

ALL HAIL the return of the fair Miss Jones. Hope she lands as good a staff as we had this year. Those who remember a year ago will feel safe in turning over the type to the new editor. She's rather lucky, too. Whenever copy is slow—as it usually is—she can sit down and tear off a bit of poetry just as easy! Us—we have to run free advertisements to fill that last bit of space.

COLLEGIATE PEPYS: In which we take our last bow before our public.....with rushing through two fast years of newswriting we hope for a place on the city pavements.....and a metropolitan daily.....but refuse to be under-dog for that cub period of two years.....so may dig ditches with a few graduating Seniors in time to come.....am a bit sobby about leaving the old cubby hole.....see that editorial.....but just the same its all for the best.....and now to cram.....for that English Lit. exam.....and to see if we can get along with the teacher until the term is over and the grades are in.....all luck to the new staffs.....and our sympathies.....heigh ho! and all such rot!

The Death of Greek Jabbies

Alas, the Greek Jabbies are to be no more. After a year of total abstinence, the editor of this column has consented to write up the eulogy on—"Why men grow old after they have lived for a time."

The first to be scolded is our own editor, one "Donnie" MacDouglas. It is rumored that "Mac" will be a matriculate at the Sacred School of Horsefeathers at Columbus, Missouri. It is the "show-me" state. Donnie says he is going to pull a "Rudy Vallee" and dedicate a song to Old Omaha entitled "There Ain't No Worry No More." Meaning, of course, the municipal success.

The little Kappas have enjoyed a rather successful (?) season and are thinking of throwing another party to celebrate the Kappa-Phi Sig wash-out last Friday night.

We see that one of their members, a certain petite senior, has another boy agoing. Oh well! Shakespeare once said: "It is better to love and be sorry than never to have loved at all." Nuff said.

Phi Sigma Phi—This group of lads have been going STRONG all year, so strong in fact that they don't yet realize their own strength. It is rumored that since the Liberty magazine (perfumed rejection slips) has been holding a contest on the Dry-Wet question, one young man has sent in 100 letters telling the editor just why the United States should try to stay dry.

Alpha Sigma Lambda—It must be true. This group of enterprising young men have up-set the dope and waltzed off with most of the campus offices for next year. Oh, well. Every dog has his day.

Theta Phi Delta—The Thetas as usual, have dominated most everything important this year—ask them. Where would the school be without the Thetas? They will all be back next year jipping the school out of money as usual.

Lambda Phi—Claim they throw the hottest, hot and most exclusive parties ever conceived. Who couldn't with a bunch of young bloods like they've got? They are much more dignified than the others, of course. Lawyers in the "embyro" usually are.

Sigma Pi—Nothing much to talk about here. Seem to be in an eternal quarrel with someone. Seems like they threw a dance somewhere once upon a time. Should be on the campus and get the right spirit of defense.

Gamma Sig's—Hurrah for the Gammas! They never do much and say less. However, they seem to get along with the boy-friends this year. Common occurrence for a Gamma to say: "I had a date with—so swell and good looking—Oh, here comes my date. See you at the revival. So long."

Sig Chi—Finally got an act in Gala Day. And first at that. Oh well, all lethal things must have an outlet. Sig Chi sorority has a nice bunch of girls and hope you are the same.

Pi Omega Pi—got the most pledges in numbers but according to the rating of Bookus—not so hot as a whole. They are putting on a "Mammy Scene" for Gala Night. They're calling it—"When Spring-Time Comes in Norway, I'll Charge My Cheeze to You." Maybe so. They don't get along with each other very well, either.

Phi Delta Psi—Dear little Phi Dels laboring under many handicaps—they hooked several good things—much to their credit. They boast of having a girl that can make a cigar man tell stories. That's saying something.

In regard to the devious methods employed by certain people—it is best that we over-look them—for next year is a new year.

At this time, dear friends all, we hope you forgive and forget.—Adieu.

ALL HAIL THESE PRETTY ATTENDANTS TO THE QUEEN!

Corrine Anne Jensen, Senior attendant to the Queen of Gala Day. She is a member of Sigma Chi Omicron; was for three years captain of the girls' championship basketball team; and will graduate with the June class, receiving a high school state teacher's certificate.

Irene Sturdevant, Junior attendant to the Queen of Gala Day. She is a member of Gamma Sigma Omicron.

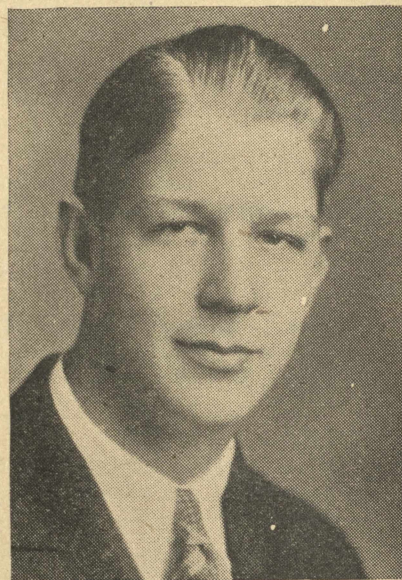

Carrieth McGill, Sophomore attendant to the Queen of Gala Day. She is a member of Kappa Psi Delta.

HEAD "GATEWAY" AND "OMAHAN" NEXT YEAR

Burrdrine Jones, '32, and Harold Glass, '32, were chosen Editor and Business Manager of The Gateway for 1930-1931 at the election held Monday, May 19, under the Student Council.

Is "Old Star"

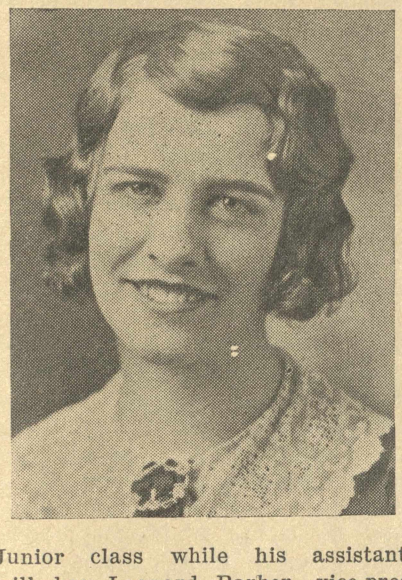

The new Editor-in-Chief, who defeated Lincoln Sutton for the position, has had much previous experience in journalistic lines. She began newspaper work at Central High school, and previous to entering the University of Omaha, reported on a city paper in Indiana. During the first half of the year 1928-1929 she served as Editor of The Gateway, and began work as Editor of The Omahan.

Harold Glass, new Business Manager, has had no previous experience on the publication.

Charles Gardner, '33, and Norwood Woerner, '31, will serve as heads of The Omahan, annual, during the next year. Charles Gardner, as Editor, will bring to the position the experience gained on the Central High Register and The Gateway.

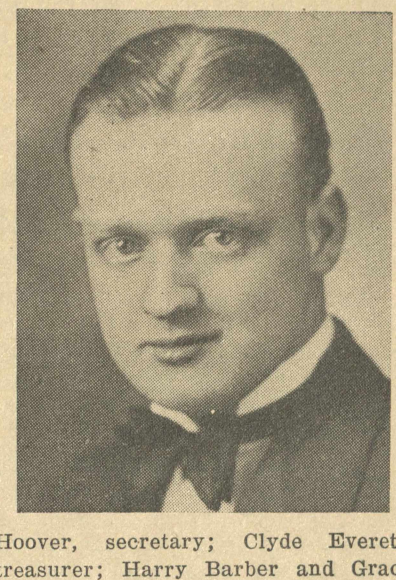

Woerner is noted for his business ability both on and off the campus.

Officers for the three classes, Senior, Junior, and Freshman, were elected at the same time. John Barber will head the Senior class. Other Junior class while his assistants will be: Leonard Barber, vice-president; Burrdrine Jones, secretary-treasurer; Fred Widoe, Student Council representative; and Bob Streiwieser, sergeant-at-arms.

The Sophomore class will have as its president Shelby Gamble, while Hector Evans, vice-president; Harry Hoover, secretary; Clyde Everett, treasurer; Harry Barber and Grace Peake, sergeants-at-arms; and Walford Marrs, Student Council member, make up the list of officers.

The entire election Monday was held under the direction of the present Student Council and counting of the ballots was done under that supervision.

With Dr. Emery

Friday evening, May 9, Dr. and Mrs. Emery were guests of Mrs. Sarah Joslyn at her home. Following that, they attended the dance given by Pi Omega Pi at the Lakewood Country Club.

May 13, Dr. and Mrs. Emery were present at the piano and harp recital of the Misses Catherine and Irma Clow in the Conservatory.

The Junior-Senior Banquet was held in the Library, May 14. Dr. Emery was a guest and spoke on the subject of "Regulations."

The regular meeting of the University Executive Committee was held May 15, at the University Club. Dr. Emery was present at the luncheon. At six o'clock the same day, Dr. Emery attended the banquet of "The Thriving Thirties Club." The speakers were Governor Weaver, J. M. Hardine and J. M. Guild of Kansas City. Twenty-Eight Men Are Candidates for "Most Popular" Throne

In response to many requests that The Gateway select the most popular man on the University of Omaha campus, the Student Council has reported twenty-eight candidates for that position.

The final selection is left to those who undertake to please the public next year. The task for present editors would be too great. And besides, the present editors will be eligible to run by next year.

But to that unmentioned twenty-eight, we extend our congratulations and full rights to the brass loving cup on the editor's desk in The Gateway office. Come and fight for it.

VACATION PLANS ARE INDEFINITE

or working in a construction gang. So what Grace Peake won't be able to do, Harry will. A word to the graduating Freshmen should be sufficient, providing they have acquired a little wisdom enroute.

Don Hayward is a mechanical ice man. He was overheard telling Harry Barber the advantages of being an installation man for the Frigidaire during the summer. One of those advantages was the fact that a mechanical man could stay all day, while the artificial ice may only stay a short time. Of course the reporter did not understand this reason but then—

That half-student half-teacher, Dorothy Manger, is going to spend her summer at Northwestern University taking some more music. Will she never get enough? And incidentally she is going to run around a lot, having a good time on the Lake. These student-teachers!

The first thing that Jack Patten is going to do is to go on the operating table for an appendectomy. After sufficiently recovering he is going home to Lingle, Wyoming, and work. It is rumored by a certain blonde on the campus that he is a very efficient musician, playing the ukelele and singing to this accompanying in a charming manner. He really should have fixed up an act in the Gala Nite show.

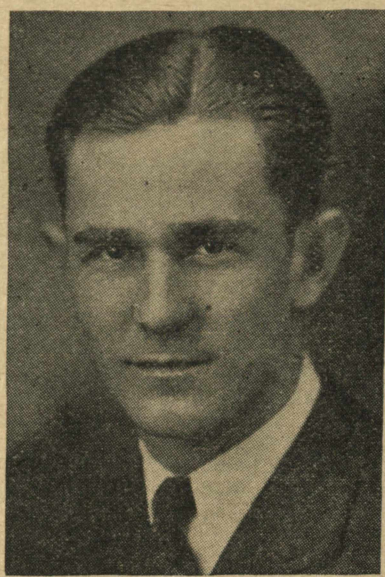

Gertrude True hasn't really decided what she will do this summer. Some persons never make up their minds until the last minute. But then she is busy taking care of the Conservatory.

His Royal Highness, Arthur Dunn, is going on several trips around over the country looking for a university in which to obtain his master's degree. What a vacation that will be! The reporter wondered for a while why he was so anxious to keep on going to school but then he has the habit—and he is young enough to attract "their" attention.

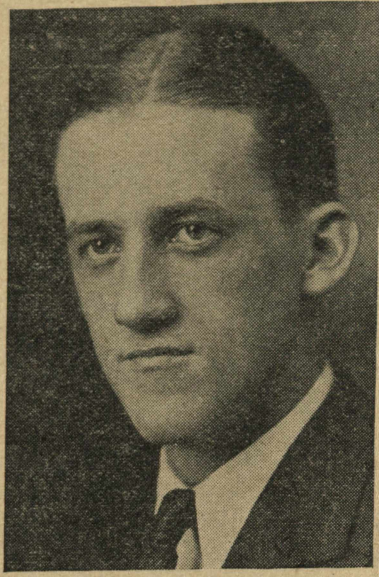

Linda Bradway has a cousin coming from Philadelphia, the same age as Linda, and they are going to have "more fun." Is that any way for a Bachelor of Arts to act?

"I'm going to teach for two weeks at Bellevue and Lexington at a summer conference this summer," offered Vivian Krisel. In all seriousness, the students are going to miss Vivian and her sparkling brown eyes. The school will be lost without her.

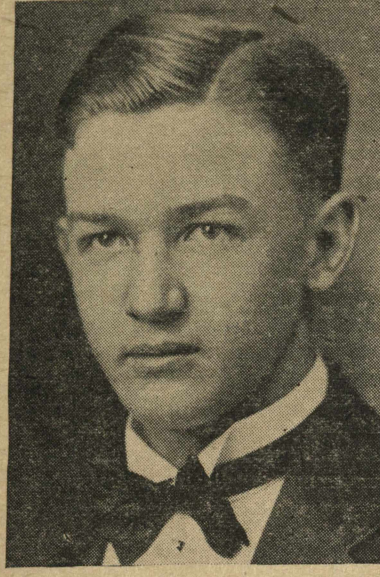

ALL CREDIT TO THESE GALA DAY CLASS REPRESENTATIVES!

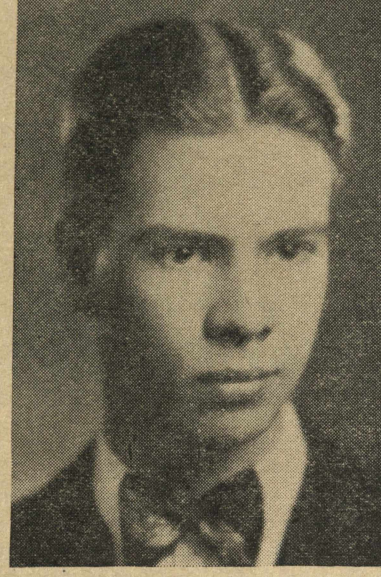

Kenneth Jensen, Senior representative to the Gala Day Central Committee. He is a member of Phi Sigma Phi and has taken a prominent part in many dramatic productions of the university.

John Barber, Junior representative to the Gala Day Central Committee. He is a member of Theta Phi Delta; member of Lambda Phi, and last year was captain of both football and basketball teams.

Robert Streitwieser, Sophomore representative to the Gala Day Central Committee. He is a member of Theta Phi Delta, member of the present Student Council, and for two years has played on the football team.

Shelby Gamble, Freshman representative to the Gala Day Central Committee. He is a member of Theta basketball team.

Theta Phi Delta Has Majority of Students Representing Classes

Above are pictured class representatives to the Gala Day Central Committee. Under the direction of Norwood Woerner, Committee Chairman, they have planned and directed the entire program for the day.

They have had complete charge of the affairs, including the track meet, baseball game, Coronation ceremonies, and Gala Night Show. The acts for the show were chosen by this committee from those submitted in the preliminaries.

In preparation for a tough Senior class for next year, Floyd Wilson, the newly elected sergeant-at-arms, is going to work on a ranch in western Nebraska. Floyd thinks that his parents still believe in Santa Claus, because they expect him to graduate next year. They really should be told the truth of the matter.

The reporter will probably follow Jack Patten to a nearby operating table, if necessary. Otherwise, there is a course of five weeks in summer school to look forward to. And after that a fishing trip with the family, with sketching and painting materials and plenty of books taken along to fill the spaces. Then back to the old grind again in September. Some summer.

the Theta Phi Delta fraternity is offering. The feature of the act will be a pony chorus with Shelby Gamble, Leonard Barber, Harvey Longmeyer, Hector Evans, Paul Fay and Leonard Gamble as the Beauties. Charles Gardner is starred as Nanette. Harvey Longmeyer and Ralph Ream will present a specialty dance with Robert Day accompanying on the piano. Rose Weber is directing the chorus. L. M. Bradfield is faculty sponsor of the number.

Kappa Psi Delta sorority and Phi Sigma Phi fraternity are collaborating and will present "Rode House Knights." Elwood Wilmouth will take the part of the Master of Ceremonies. Jane Wickersham and Betty Curtis sing the opening song. Russel Baker is the waiter. Sam Thomas and Carebeth McGill entertain with a violin duet. Betty Curtis presents an Oriental Dance with a chorus composed of Margaret Addy, Barbara Berkle, Florence Wood, Berneice Anderson, Florence Jetter. Jane Wickersham is directing the act and Dr. E. W. Emery is sponsor.

The eighth act is sponsored by Gamma Sigma Omicron with Miss Frances Wood as faculty advisor. The act is called "Fantasy" and will be "a weird production of music with lighting effects."

As the closing act, the Conservatory of Music presents the Cardinal Club Orchestra, directed by Walter Wherry. The orchestra is composed of Earl Tuttle and Hoyt Griffin, Trumpets; Walter Wherry, Don McMahon and Cecil Pellissier, Saxophones; Jack Carver, Drum; Joe Wandscheer, Banjo and Royal Hipwell, Bass. Charles Gardner is business manager and Prof. N. J. Logan is the sponsor.

"WRITE LETTERS INTELLIGENTLY"

spired to write letters. We would rather have it said of us that we can successfully write letters, than that we can write stories. Of all the literary types, the letter alone differs from any other form of writing. The author of the letter is his own publisher. Consequently he is responsible not only for the matter of his writings, but also for those details which a writer for the press leaves to the editors and proof-readers.

"Letters may be the most casual communication or they may be examples of epistolary treatises. Many letters are very obviously written out of the mood of the moment. There are times when we are not in the letter-writing mood."

At this time Mrs. Johnson advises that letters of public character should not be written. It is the spontaneity of our letters that throws the light upon our characters and personalities. "A good letter is not forced or written under strain."

Have Several Types

There are several characteristics of a letter, according to Mrs. Johnson. In the first place they are personal and because of the most intimate nature, seldom written for more than two eyes to scrutinize. Letters are often reflective in content. They are in themselves autobiographical. Another quality of letters is the fact that when at their best they are concise and expressive. As a model of this Mrs. Johnson cited the example of the fam-

Writing "Expert" Here To Reveal Character

C. E. Gray "Reads" Student Handwriting

"GIBSON IMPATIENT"

C. E. Gray, graphologist, analyzed the handwriting of several University of Omaha students when he spoke at the assembly Wednesday, May 14. Mildred Gibson, Rose Zzulak, Grace Peake, Johanna Dahl, Gail Savidge, and Charles Gardner were the students whose writing underwent the scrutiny of the expert.

According to the analysis, Mildred Gibson is inclined to be absent-minded, impatient, in a rush to do things, proud, optimistic most of the time, though moody at intervals, unselfconscious, highly individual, and inclined to have her own way. Charles Gardner, business manager of The Gateway was revealed as a person whose feelings are not easily hurt, of a jealous disposition, strong in likes or dislikes, impulsive yet sincere. He finds it hard to keep a secret, according to Mr. Gray, but also finds difficulty in telling a lie.

A faulty memory, lack of credibility, curiosity, great pride, and a conscience are included among the possessions of Rose Zzulak if her handwriting as to be credited with revealing her character. Her widely spaced handwriting revealed Grace Peake as extravagant; other characteristics are self pity, abounding vitality, no strong likes or dislikes, quick temper and frankness.

Johanna Dahl will hold a grudge for a long time, said Mr. Gray. She is inclined to be stubborn, indifferent, and self-contained. A person who enjoys her own way, is capable of taking care of herself, and who defends her own rights in Gail Savidge, according to Mr. Gray's analysis.

ous letter of Abraham Lincoln to Mrs. Bixby, a widow who had lost her four sons in the Civil War. "Letters are usually confidential. Alexander Hamilton once said, 'Never write a letter unless you have to, and always keep every letter that has been sent to you.'"
